

Groundwork for growth at The Waterfront

Crews prepare what will be a parking garage under one of several new buildings under development at The Waterfront project in Vancouver. Work on the project's signature Grant Street Pier is scheduled to follow a groundbreaking ceremony Monday. (Ariane Kunze/The Columbian)

Construction continues on the waterfront project Wednesday. (Ariane Kunze/The Columbian)

By The Columbian

Published: July 14, 2016, 6:00 AM

Crews prepare what will be a parking garage under one of several new buildings under development at The Waterfront project in Vancouver. Work on the project's signature Grant Street Pier is scheduled to follow a groundbreaking ceremony Monday.

According to the city of Vancouver, the pier will be a major focal point in the new park that will be built along the shore of the Columbia River as part of this redevelopment effort.